Rice Festival returns

The rice festival is back.

The second annual "International Rice Festival," hosted by the West Sacramento Downtown Association, will be held on Oct. 3-4 at Merkley Plaza off of Jefferson Blvd. and West Capitol Ave. Hours will be Sat., Oct. 3, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., and Sun., Oct. 4, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The festival will feature rice product displays, informative exhibits on rice and rice byproducts, and plenty of rice-laden cuisine, including many ethnic dishes.

The festival is intended to celebrate global dependence on rice as a food source, say organizers, as well as celbrate the international flavor of the West Sacramento region. A carnival, craft booths, health and safety exhibits, boxing match, parade and car show will all be featured.

Admittance and parking are free.

On the local campaign trail:

Special account paid for flyer

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

It wasn't a campaign brochure, said Christopher Cabaldon, who is running for re-election to the West Sacramento City Council in November's election.

The brochure which went out this month to West Sacramento homes, bearing the city seal, actually was paid for through an obscure fundraising mechanism which no longer exists. Cabaldon had created an "office holder's" account with the city, enabling him to raise money to carry out duties related to work on the city council. That account paid for the brochure, touting the city's achievements and explaining his views.

CHRISTOPHER CABALDON

The "office holder's account" was an idea created in the aftermath of last year's Proposition 208, a state campaign reform ballot initiative which (among other things) prevented political candidates from raising money outside of a pre-determined election season. Following the passage of Prop. 208 -- but before it was invalidated by the courts -- the state tried to create a way for politicians to raise money out of season for use in official duties.

"They created this concept of an office holder's account," said Cabaldon, "which you could raise money for year round but you could only apply to office holder's expenses. I set one up last year."

Cabaldon said the money he raised for it went to finance the newsletter -- which he said he had planned to send out months earlier -- and to printing official council postcards for himself to use in correspondence with constituents.

Because the newsletter was sent out under this account (and did not overtly campaign for him), said Assistant City Manager Carol Richardson, it was perfectly legal for the brochure to bear the city's seal.

No other council members have set up such an account. Cabaldon said his account is now empty, and since Prop. 208 has been invalidated, the opportunity for he or other council members to begin another office holder's account has passed.

Cabaldon said that the people he talked to seemed to clearly understand that it wasn't a campaign document.

"I got a lot of phone calls at city hall," he explained. "People didn't respond to it like a campaign piece. My plan was to do these newsletters on a fairly regular basis, but it just was a lot harder and took a lot longer than I thought."

Cabaldon, who campaigned in 1996 partly on a pledge to reject money from special interests and to reject donations of over $100, also answered questions on campaign documents he filed with the county this year.

The donation lists include $250 from developer Peter McCuen and $250 from the Sacramento Building Trade Council -- donations that indicate a change of heart.

Cabaldon admitted he has dropped his plan to accept only donations under $100, but said that he has not violated his promise to turn down money from people contracting with the city.

Among the donations is $450 accepted in two parts this year from developer Dan Ramos -- with $200 of that sum credited towards Cabaldon's 1996 campaign debt in which he had vowed to accept contributions of no more than $100. Because $250 was donated to the current campaign and $200 was earmarked for a past campaign debt, the city's contribution limit of $250 was not violated, said Assistant City Manager Richardson.

Cabaldon explained that he still supports the even-tighter $100 contribution cap, but that he was forced to play by the other candidates' rules in order to stay competitive in this year's race.

"I still believe the right public policy is $100 maximum donations, with spending limits, not only for the city but for state and federal elections too. But after the court threw Prop. 208 out, I had to make a decision. It was clear back in January who some of the candidates were going to be and what kind of financial backing they would have."

If he had two other "yes" votes on the council, said Cabaldon, he would be happy to vote for a new donation cap of $100.

Council to look at land swap for future city hall property

City of West Sacramento

Tonight, the West Sacramento City Council will consider an agreement to exchange property with Ramco Enterprises for the purpose of acquiring the site of the proposed downtown Civic Center. In the agreement, the city would exchange its Tower Court property for Ramco Enterprises' East Merkley property, which is bounded by West Capitol and Merkley Avenues, next to the Arthur F. Turner County Library.

The East Merkley property has been identified as the most appropriate location for the Civic Center complex, by a city task force authorized by the City Council. The proposed 74,000 square foot complex would contain city administration offices, a senior center and a long-desired community center. The location complements activities and uses of the Turner library, in addition to meeting a major objective of the 1992 West Capitol Action Plan, which forecast the positive impact of a civic center in the downtown business district.

Ramco Enterprises had intended developing an office building at the East Merkley site. Discussions with the city raised the possibility of exchanging the Ramco property for the city's Tower Court property. An independent appraiser was brought in to evaluate both properties and provide the foundation for a fair exchange.

About Town:

Bill Ramos: West Sacto business entrepeneur

Talk about business in West Sacramento, and the name "Ramos" will come up. This week, "About Town" visits with Bill Ramos, founder of Ramos Oil Company. Next week, the News-Ledger will chat with Frank Ramos (Bill's brother), one of the region's most prominent developers.

By Daryl Fisher
Features Editor

The grandparents of Bill Ramos on his mother's side of the family left Monte Frio, Spain at the turn of the century.

"They lived in a small town and had very little," explained Bill, "and then one day they saw a C & H sugar company poster which said anyone who was willing to sign a five-year contract to work in the sugar cane fields of Hawaii would get a cabin, an acre of land, a cow, and some pigs and chickens. Well, they thought they had died and gone to heaven. They packed up what little they had and off they went to Hawaii."

After Bill's grandparents had fulfilled their labor contract in Hawaii, they traveled to the West Coast of California, and by the time World War One came along, Bill's father was working in the shipyards of Oakland.

"My mother met my father while he was in Oakland," recalled Bill, "and me and my sister and my younger brother, Frank, were raised in the delta town of Ryde. It was actually a Tom Sawyer kind of childhood and we went fishing and hunting just about every day. I went to grammar school at Ryde School, although it was called Beaver Union at that time, and then I attended Rio Vista High School. It really was a great place to grow up."

Like most of the men of Bill's generation, the early 1940s found him in the military service of his country.

"I entered the Navy in 1943," said Bill, "and was put aboard an aviation gasoline tanker. We hauled a million gallons of 130 octane gas to the Pacific Islands and to aircraft carriers. Every time our Marines would take control of a Pacific Island, it was our job to follow the Seabee's in and make sure there was plenty of fuel stored up for the next mission. If I remember right, the United States had about 250 aviation gas tankers at the start of the war, and only about 50 when it finally ended. Island hopping on a slow-moving ship loaded with gasoline probably wasn't the smartest thing I ever did, but I learned a lot about the oil and gas business while I was in the Navy and that knowledge was very helpful to me when I came back to the States in 1946."

BILL & SHARON RAMOS

After the war was over, Bill returned to Ryde and took a job in Marysville with Chevron, which lasted for five years. He was then offered a position with Shell and he has been employed by that company for 47 years. He is also the Founder and C.E.O. of Ramos Oil Company, Inc.

"When I moved to West Sacramento in 1951," recalled Bill, "everything west of Park Boulevard was still pasture land and the Last Chance Service Station was way out of town on Harbor and West Capitol. One of my first jobs with Shell was to haul gas all the way down Jefferson Boulevard to what we used to call Clarksburg International Airport. But West Sacramento has been very good to me and my family and it was a great place to raise the children."

'Bill Ramos has always had the qualities it takes to be successful, plus he's funny and easy to get along with. You can't go wrong when you have a friend like Bill. He cares about people and it shows.'
-- FRITZ REAMER

Bill and his wife of fifteen years, Sharon, have five children, four boys and one girl.

"Kent, Kyle, and Kris work for the oil company," said Bill. "Gregg is a principal in the Sacramento School District and Stephanie runs the minority end of the company."

Bill and Sharon were introduced to each other by mutual friends at a Folsom crab feed and knew right away that they belonged together.

"She swept me off my feet," said Bill, "and our life together is a very good one."

"We have been blessed with a large, wonderful family," said Sharon. "We all do so many things together and we really enjoy each other's company. Bill is supposed to be retired, but he still goes to the office every day. Over the years, though, we've managed to do quite a bit of traveling, and we've both enjoyed that very much."

Peter Palamidessi, the founder of West Sacramento's Club Pheasant and a longtime friend of Bill's said, "Bill is everything you could possibly want in a friend. I've know him since the 1950s and his concern for me and my family has always been genuine and very much appreciated. When one of my sons was very ill, it was Bill who told me that if there was anything at all he could do to help, all I had to do was ask. He's been a true friend, and a also a credit to West Sacramento."

Kathleen O'Leary, a West Sacramento Redevelopment Program Manager said, "Bill has been very active in Rotary Club for decades and is always doing things behind the scenes to help others. He is down-to-earth, well liked by absolutely everybody, and he really values his friends. He

An article in last week's News-Ledger on River City High School cheerleader Erin Cheechov and other team members mistakenly listed the name of a different member of her family underneath her photograph. The News-Ledger apologizes for the mistake.

Will Clinton be impeached? Only Jay Leno knows

My Back Pages

By Daryl Fisher

I was sitting at my computer the other evening, trying to get a little ahead on my column writing, when I suddenly began to hear laughter coming from another room. It abruptly came to an end, so I turned my thoughts back to a little collection of question and answer jokes I had been thumbing through, which including the following:

Q -- When does a woman really enjoy a man's company?

A -- When he owns it.

Q -- What do you call a woman who knows where her husband is every night?

A -- A widow.

Q -- How do you get a man to do sit-ups?

A -- You put the remote control between his toes.

Q -- Why did Moses wander through the desert for 40 years?

A -- Because he wouldn't ask for directions.

Q -- Why did the man cross the road?

A -- Because he heard the chicken was a slut.

Anyway, as I chuckled to myself, I began to hear laughter coming from the front room again. Being the nosy person I am, I got up, went to my bedroom door, cracked it open and began eavesdropping on my daughter and oldest son, who were doing all the laughing.

"And listen to this part," said my daughter as she began to read to my son. "We kissed. I was wearing a long dress that buttoned from the neck to the ankles. And he unbuttoned my dress and he unhooked my bra, and sort of took the dress off my shoulders and moved the bra. He was looking at me and touching me and telling me how beautiful I was."

"Hey!" I shouted as I stepped out from the shadows and confronted my two oldest children. "Just what in the world do you guys think you're doing?"

"Nothing," they both assured me in innocent unison.

"Since when is reading garbage like that something we do in the front room?" I asked them.

"But it's not garbage, Dad," said my daughter.

"Then just what would you call it?" I demanded to know.

"I'd call it the beginning of the end," said my son with a smile.

"End of what?" I asked, beginning to get a little confused.

"I'm just reading from the Ken Starr report about President Clinton and Monica Lewinsky," explained my daughter. "I got a copy of it today. It was on the Internet. Want to hear some of the more juicy parts?"

"Oh, that's okay," I said. "I think I'll just wait for the movie."

The last time I paid any real attention to the Clinton/Lewinsky scandal was when I read something John Jacobs, the fine Sacramento Bee columnist, had written about it. In short, he said there were no real heroes in the story, only an ugly cast of characters. He listed Independent Counsel Kenneth Starr, whose prosecutorial excesses were scary; the White House spinners, who were trying to do negative stories on the president's adversaries and delay the investigation; Monica Lewinsky, who had a history of lying and seemed to be enjoying her notoriety; Lewinsky's attorney, William Ginsburg, who could never seem to pass up a chance to get on television; Webster Hubbell, the ex-Clinton friend and top Justice Department official who had been sent to jail for bilking his Arkansas law partners out of hundreds of thousands of dollars; Linda Tripp, everyone's nightmare of a friend; Republican U.S. Rep. Dan Burton, who chairs the House of Representatives committee investigating Democratic campaign finance irregularities, and who called the President a "scum bag", only to recently admit that he has some pretty scummy skeletons in his own closet; the Washington press corps and all the media pundits, who seem absolutely obsessed with the story; all the Clinton haters who have never been able to accept the fact that the people elected him to be their president; and of course the president himself, who has dragged the country through endless months of others telling us more about his personal life than most of us ever wanted to know.

"So," suddenly asked my daughter, "what do you think is going to happen to the president?"

"Well," I finally answered, "I think it's probably all up to Jay Leno. If he goes back to doing all those great Linda Tripp jokes, like the time when he said that Starr also had found stains on one of her dresses, but that they were just spaghetti sauce and chocolate syrup, then I think the president has a fighting chance. But if Jay keeps doing jokes like the one he did last night, when he said that George Burns no longer has the most famous cigar, then I think poor old Bill may be in big trouble."

Museum? Bed & breakfast? Council ponders old firehouse

From Art Schroeder
Community Relations
Redevelopment & Housing Agency
City of West Sacramento

From its "Streamline Moderne" architecture to the memories embedded in its walls, the Washington Firehouse building is recognized by the West Sacramento City Council and the community as a link to history worth preserving. The next step in the process to determine its future use occurs tonight at the meeting of the City Council. The council will be asked to authorize a request for proposals seeking professional evaluation of the building's existing conditions and rehabilitation costs of potential uses identified by the community. When compiled, this independent information will assist the council's decision regarding a renewed role for the two-story, wood-and-concrete structure on Third Street.

In October 1997, a public workshop collected ideas on how to re-use the firehouse. The range of suggestions could be summarized as follows: a museum/visitor's center; restaurant/cafe; retail/office; or bed and breakfast resort. The feasibility of any of these uses rests with a technical evaluation of the condition of the building and detailed estimates of rehabilitation costs. With the council's approval, proposals will be sought from special technical experts with experience in historic preservations. Services requested will include a structural analysis, pest and lead-based paint reports, and preliminary architectural designs and cost estimates for each potential use.

"The objective for the renovation of the Washington Firehouse will be to bring people back to this historic building," said the city's Director of Redevelopment and Housing, Val Toppenberg.

The West Sacramento City Council will meet tonight at 7 p.m. in the council chambers at City Hall, 2101 Stone Blvd., second floor.

Cal gives Brandon scholarship

West Sacramento native Eric Brandon, a fifth-year senior and "walk on" member of the football team at the University of California, Berkeley, has received a "surprise" full-ride football scholarship at the school.

Brandon and four others were awarded the scholarships which became available through team attrition, and now will find not only his tuition and books covered, but his housing paid for. Equally important for an athlete like Brandon is that he will now have a seat at the team's training table -- a nightly team buffet for scholarship players only.

The Oakland Tribune reported the scholarship award, saying that Brandon was one of the most popular members of the team and received a rousing round of support and congratulations from his teammates when the scholarships were announced.

ERIC BRANDON

Sports Insider

By Richard Novoa

The 49ers showed off their explosive offense on Monday night before a national TV audience, as Steve Young led the Niners to a 45-10 rout over Washington. Young ran for one touchdown and threw for three other scores as the 49ers rolled up 504 total offense yards. It was their second straight week of more than 500 total offensive yards. Their defense played much better this week, after a shaky first quarter against Redskins rooke QB Trent Green. The 49ers (2-0) head into a bye week tied with the Atlanta Falcons (2-0), who they will face on Sept. 27 at 3Com Park.

Speaking of defense, the Oakland Raiders (1-1) finally showed signs of a defense in their 20-17 victory over the New York Giants. The Raiders put together a great game on both sides of the ball. The next challenge for the Raiders, who snapped a six game losing streak dating back to last season, will be the defending Super Bowl Champion Denver Broncos (2-0) on Sunday (1:15 p.m.).

If the Raiders have any hope of upsetting the Broncos, they will have to focus on stopping Denver running back Terrell Davis. The Broncos, who are 7 point favorites, may have to play without their leader John Elway, who pulled a hamstring in their rout of the Dallas Cowboys last Sunday. The Raiders need to play a perfect game and cut down on their penalties. The Raiders committed 16 penalties Sunday but the New York Giants had 15. The Raiders have committed more penalties (31) in two games thaan their total points scored (28).

The Raiders have a slugger's chance in winning the game, but if Elway plays it could get ugly. Denver 24, Oakland 21.

Speaking of a slugger's chance, that's what Julio Cesar Chavez has this Friday night in his rematch with Oscar De La Hoya in Las Vegas. If Chavez, a 12-1 underdog, lands that famous left hook, he could win this fight!

OUT ON A LIMB by GARY KOPERVAS

THE SPATS by JEFF PICKERING

OPINION

News-Ledger Editorial:

Money still rules -- despite campaign limits

Both past events and events soon to come will show West Sacramento that as it enters another political campaign season, the city still does not have its campaign rules sorted out. Even though the city has enacted an attempt at campaign reform -- including an attempt at limiting the influence of special interests by limiting individual contributions to $250 -- there are holes in the system.

Among the perfectly legal surprises and abuses:

■ A political candidate can spend money and build up a campaign debt, then retroactively accept donations to cover this debt. This means that by the time the donation is reported to the public, the election is over. A "grassroots" campaigner, for example, can accept late contributions (even years late) from a special interest group. Despite requirements to report these donations, the public loses: enough time passes before the donations are reported that the election is over before the public can find out who the candidate's (or ballot initiative's) backers are revealed.

The old political adage of "follow the money" can't be applied by interested members of the public, because the money trail is (quite legally) obscured until it is too late.

■ West Sacramento has a limit of $250 per individual contribution. The theory is that by limiting large donations, the city has opted to limit the influence of large donors, preventing a candidate from "owing" favors to a small number of rich backers upon election. But it is perfectly legal for a single person or company to give more than $250, as long as no more than $250 is applied to a single campaign. For a candidate who has debts from several campaigns, it is legal to accept $500, $750 or more in one afternoon from one person -- as long as no more than $250 is applied to a single campaign cycle's finances. The second $250 could be applied to a campaign debt from four years ago; the third $250 to the election before that, and so on.

Yet we "presume" that although a large donation is made at once, the candidate will not be unduly grateful and unduly influenced.

■ Perhaps most troubling is the potential of abuse by independent campaigns and political action committees. While a candidate must stick to the $250 per person contribution limit, someone else working independently towards the election of that same candidate may raise additional money. So by creating one or more "independent" campaigns, the total amount raised by a person (tapping the same well-heeled contributors) may become quite great.

A single individual fighting for the election of someone he admires can spend all of his own money that he wants --as long as his campaign does not work in concert with the candidate. (Courts have found this to be a free speech issue). Where a rich special interest could formerly donate all the cash he wanted to a city council candidate, for example, campaign limits such as West Sacramento's mean this is no longer possible. But the wealthy fellow could start a separate campaign and spend the same big bucks he used to, for the same causes, quite legally.

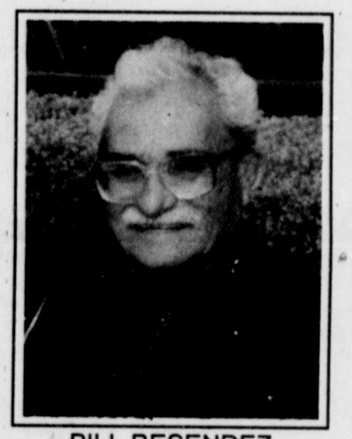

These are just a few of the ways in which dangerous amounts of money can still be funnelled to candidates' causes even after West Sacramento enacted a campaign reform ordinance. Like the rest of the state, West Sacramento has yet to find a solution that works.

Campaign questions

It seems that we are getting invaded by folks from across the river. What are they doing? Walking precincts for who? No other than Council man, Chris Cabaldon. It also seems that many of us have problems of just what Mr. Cabaldon is all about. We all know he is bright and well-educated, but is he right for West Sacramento?

BILL RESENDEZ

I was a very strong supporter of his during the last election. Since then, I've done some homework, just to try and find out more about him. It all started when we put in a bid to buy the home we are living in now. We won the bid from the City fair and square. The City staff had done a great job in preparing the report to the City Council. The bank had approved the loan, everything that needed to be done had a green light. It went before a full Council, Mr. Cabaldon put a stop to it. To this day, I do not know why. It took three more weeks of waiting. Needless to say, I was very disappointed.

What I discovered about him, he tells us one thing and does another. Remember when he ran for office, he told us he would be independent, he would have nothing to do with P.A.C. organizations, he would not take more than $100.00 per person in campaign contributions. Well, I've got it in writing. He is taking P.A.C. monies, he is taking more than $100.00 per person, and they are not from West Sacramento.

Here to name a couple are Operating Engineer's District 80, $250.00; Sacramento Building Trade Council, $250.00. He has received $250.00 from Ram Properties, which is owned by the Ramos family. He received $250.00 from David Ramos; $450.00 from Daniel Ramos. I don't believe that makes him very independent. This is just the trip of the iceberg.

I also found in the newspaper from Sacramento, that he has the Cabaldon Fundraiser Planning Committee. I don't know how anyone else feels about people from Sacramento getting into our politics, but this Brown Yankee does not like it. Here are a few members: Derek Ledda, Ben and Liz Fenken and Memie Weitzenber, none from West Sacramento. He has his money machine across the river.

If you have seen his brochure that those from Sacramento are passing out, it seems like he is the only one doing anything for our City. I've got news, everything he is taking credit for was in the works before he came about. One thing I do agree with, he is a one man show.

The City hall and the City Civic Center have been in the planning before we became a City. I've listened to Councilman Bill Kristoff for the past ten years, dreaming and working for a Civic Center. In my 70 years on this planet, I have never seen or heard of the people's house being sold on a two man vote. Our City Hall was sold for only two million bucks. Who were the two votes? The Mayor, Wesley Beers and Mayor Pro Temp, Christopher Cabaldon.

We purchased our City Hall for the same price we sold it for. Doesn't make sense to me. I do not hold anything against the buyer, that's what they do in life, make money. If I would have been able to do what Mr. Oates and Mr. Ramos did in buying our City Hall, I would have done the same thing. All I can do is respect these two gentlemen. But, I do wonder about Mr. Cabaldon. After he promised in his first run for office that he would not do anything of this nature and that he would be independent.

One more thing, I just received his flyer in the mail, it read as if "Hercules" had come to West Sacramento in the form of Mr. Cabaldon, and had done everything by himself. What I found appalling, was using our City Seal on his flyer. I called the City to see if it was legal, they did not know. I believe it to be a conflict of interest to only benefit him. It does not give the other two candidates an equal opportunity.

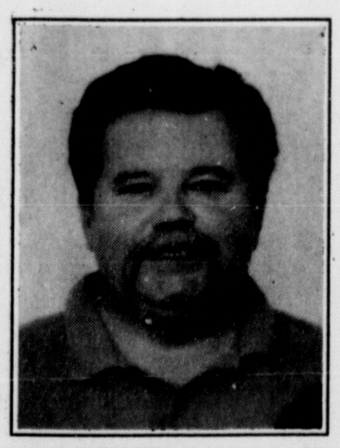

Well, Mr. Cabaldon, one thing is for sure, you lost this man's vote. Too bad, because I did like you. Who am I going to vote for? Jim Cahill. Why? Too many bureaucrats now on our Council. Jim understands what should be done with our money, he would not have sold our City Hall without us getting some kind of a return. He is a Finance Consultant, we need someone on the Council with that kind of mentality. We have lost too much money in the past ten years.

School bond task force

I attended the September 8, 1998 meeting of the Washington Unified School District because there were a number of issues that came to my attention while reviewing the agenda for that meeting.

One of the first items I saw was that the composition of the School Bond Task Force Steering Committee, Community Members (representing all areas of the community). Three of the fifteen (20%) are currently candidates for the board, and a few others have close ties to current board members. Ethnic diversity or lack thereof, which was predicted last November to cause riots in the streets of our city, it not reflected in the current community members group. Board members assured me that all areas of the city were represented. I again attempted to explain that I was not referring to zip codes, as we only have two of those, and they do not recognize the ethnic diversity of our community. At the conclusion of this discussion the board offered to allow all board candidates to apply for membership in the community group. The diversity issue was lost in the process.

ED HOCKING

Dr. Kelleher stated in the September 9, 1998 issue of The News-Ledger that the suggestion made by Grace Ohlson during the August 11, 1998 board meeting caused a change in the composition of community members by including more people living in the district. If my memory serves me correctly, Grace Ohlson suggested all members live in the community. Perhaps how one defines community, or members, or community members, will have some bearing on the outcome.

When asked if I wished to serve as a community member, I declined because I believe this presents a conflict of interest to me as a candidate. This may not be an issue for anyone else, but I have to live with myself, not others. I did not decline due to a lack of interest, I am committed to the passage of a school bond. Whether or not this was understood by the board, or it went the same route as the above issue, is not important to me. Members of the public present at the meeting approached me during the intermission and stated they understood my point, and that is important.

There was also much discussion about the lack of "air circulating devices" (better known as fans or air conditions) in many classrooms. This is a serious problem with mandatory and non-mandatory summer school sessions. Stories about "when I went to school, I never fell out of my seat due to the heat," were bantered about the air conditioned city hall. Of course many of us walked to school ten miles in the snow without shoes. That was then, this is now. Adequate room air conditioners or "air circulating devices" are not that expensive. As a board member, I would have no problem donating any compensation received as a board member, to purchase room air conditions if the money can't be found in the budget. This would give the board a great opportunity to use a concept taught to me in the military, lead by example. Many government offices shut down operations and send staff home at temperatures much lower than our students and teachers have to endure. We should not be training our students and teachers to endure high temperatures, we should continue to raise the quality of a learning environment.

I would encourage anyone in the district to attend the board meetings, and voice your concerns. This is your board, you own it, and it serves at your will. I guarantee it to be an experience.

Defeat the Mayor

For those of you wondering why I am so vigorously opposing the reelection of our Mayor, Wes Beers, the following are my reasons:

Reason 1: Rearrange Zoning. The decision on May 10, 1995 by the City Council to rearrange the zoning of commercial property I have owned for a long time has cut the value of my property in half. They took my car and left me walking.

Reason 2: Mello Roos. The City borrows money on your signature and you guarantee the loan by giving your property as collateral. I am paying $16.75 per day to improve West Sacramento and the Palamadessi Bridge. The $16.75 is going to be paid forever on the land, but they rearranged the zoning. I call this a breach of contract.

These are my personal reasons. Let me now give you some reasons that affect you and me, the taxpayers:

Reason 1: Make Development That Makes Sense...No More Eminent Domain. The following people at the following locations took the City to Court and the City lost by paying double or triple what the property was worth. We cannot afford this for sure:

Magan Patel, end of West Capitol Ave.; Hawaiian Hut, middle of West Capitol Ave.; Sutter Motel, middle of West Capitol Ave.; Singh Motor/Manasero Glass, Tower Court; Vacation Inn, Merkley Ave.; Pool Hall, by the Money Store; Broderick Market, by the Money Store; Parris Property, Sacramento Ave.; Bonnetti Property, 5th & G Street; Sierra Hart, relocated twice; Cheers right away, middle of West Capitol Ave.; A E Liqueur, Broderick; and Bill Notis (daughter Dolly), 2400 West Capitol Ave.

It takes 30% of the West Sacramento revenue to pay for the lawsuits and the attorney fees.

Reason 4: Respect for Long Term Citizens. They have no respect for long term citizens. We go to Council meetings. We cry and complain. They listen, but they do not want to hear.

Reason 5: End Favored Zoning for Developers. They have been giving new developers six homes to an acre, which is very small lots when you consider streets, sidewalks, gutter and utility right of way plus more commercial properties, while they take away commercial properties from the original owners.

Reason 6: City Hall Costs Taxpayers Double. The City Council sold City Hall, now they rent.

LETTERS from p. 5

It costs double the payment we were making before.

Reason 7: Fewer Restrictions for People Improving Their Property. If your roof is leaking, try to repair it, you are in for a surprise. The minute you climb on your roof you have five inspectors telling you everything you have to fix on your house. One inspector should be enough, why should you have to pay wages for another four?

Reason 8: Road Blocks or Progress. The young family that decides to buy a lot and build a home is faced with the base of $38,000.00 in fees before they even buy the lumber. Our City council has never seen a fee it did not like.

Reason 9: Do You Want the Redevelopment Agency to Have Control of 20 Percent of Your Tax Money? Did you know that 20 percent of all the property tax money we collect goes to the redevelopment fund? Remember once they take the property by eminent domain it goes off the tax rolls.

With 30 percent of the tax revenue for lawsuits and attorneys and another 20 percent for the redevelopment agency that only leaves 50 percent to run the city. Can you imagine if the average bread winner, like you, only had 50 percent of his take home pay to run his household? Could you feed your family? Could you get everything your family needs? Will the City take care of all our citizens needs?

These are some of the reasons I would like to see our Mayor, Wes Beers, retired.

Mayor Wes Beers is asking for a four-year extension. Don't you think eight years of him was enough?

Elect Jim Cahill for City Council.

I want to thank all the property owners that allowed me to put up Elect Jim Cahill signs. If you want to help me get Jim Cahill elected, I would gladly come and put a small yard sign up. Please give me a call at 371-1818.

Clinton crisis

Here's a package -- all or nothing -- to settle the "presidential crisis": 1) Bill Clinton resigns; 2) VP Al Gore becomes President Al Gore; 3) President Gore appoints Hillary Rodham Clinton as Vice President; 4) If the so-called "election scandal" gets too hot for President Gore, he resigns, allowing Hillary Rodham Clinton to become President Hillary Rodham Clinton; 5) President H.R. Clinton appoints Tipper Gore as VP; thus, American again has a Clinton-Gore President/VP leadership; 6) Henceforth, all elected officials -- past, present and future -- shall no longer have private sex lives! Wouldn't the news media just love that?

Since the O.J. Simpson case (over-coverage), we've created a new TV classification we should call "infotainment," or combination of information and entertainment. As the various networks compete for the higher ratings, their reporters have become so overly-aggressive, they hammer away at the sex issue (at many inappropriate times), they fail miserably to report to us on the whole news picture. The news media, especially TV...and the public have created these popularity contests and too many of those heretofore reporting the news are now -- in large measure -- partaking in the making of today's news. And, of course, more "hot" news means higher sales of newspapers, magazines, etc., which feeds the money addiction.

From former President Richard Nixon (who resigned under impeachment threat about a quarter century ago) aide Lucy Ann Goldberg to Linda Tripp who "tripped" her one-time friend Monica Lewinsky into secretly tape-recording several hours with "lover-boy" Bill Clinton...it takes two to tango...recently Monica was offered $2 million to $3 million "for a book on Clinton." And why did Paula Jones wait until Bill Clinton became president before filing her "sex lawsuit" for alleged acts while he was Arkansas Governor during those "12 years plus?" Will P.J.'s recent nose job "save face" for her? And is it not also strange that investigator/former judge Ken Starr was defending tobacco companies while President was helping to lead the way to reduction of tobacco consumption (conflict of interest)? As all of that explicit sex stuff goes on the internet, we can say, "Goodbye" to sex privacy between consenting adults and "hello" to new rules (?)." More infotainment and...no more sex privacy, anyone?

is a hard-working family man who has made the community he loves a better place to live in, and he is also one of the nicest men I have ever met."

Fritz Reamer, a well-known area farmer who has been friends with Bill for more than 40 years said, "Bill Ramos has always had the qualities it takes to be successful, plus he's funny and easy to get along with. You can't go wrong when you have a friend like Bill. He cares about people and it shows."

"We have a lot of friends here and West Sacramento has been very good to the Ramos family," said Bill. "I like to think we've been good to West Sacramento, too. I hope so. This area has seen many changes over the years. I didn't always agree with the changes, but they have seemed to turn out for the best. I am about retired now. I guess the only real job I have left is to pick up the mail and if I lose that job, I'll actually be unemployed!"

Like his younger brother Frank, Bill Ramos has worked very hard over the years and has poured his heart and soul into his chosen profession.

"I consider myself a very lucky person," said Bill, "and I would like to take this opportunity to thank the many friends I have in the West Sacramento area -- just thank them for being my friends."

In addition to Bill and Sharon's five children, they also have 12 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Ramos, expressed willingness to accommodate the city. "The new Civic Center will benefit the community," he said. "We want to see it placed where the city feels it should be located," he said. Ramco now plans to develop their office building on the Tower Court site.

Design features for the $12 million Civic Center received inspiration from other civic buildings found in Redwood City, Merced and Dublin, California.

The concept for the community center is drawn from the city of Merced's "galleria," with connecting meeting roms, a kitchen, City Council Chambers, and a large area for special events.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF: DOROTHY A. RADDIGAN CASE NO. P98000223

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of: DOROTHY A. RADDIGAN

A PETITION has been filed by DAYLE RADDIGAN in the Superior Court of California, County of Yolo.

THE PETITION requests that DAYLE RADDIGAN be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests the decedent's WILL and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The WILL and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on October 2, 1998 at 8:30 A.M. in Dept. 7 located at 725 Court St. Woodland CA 95695.

IF YOU OBJECT TO the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within four months from the date of first issuance of letters as provided in section 9100 of the California Probate Code. The time for filing claims will not expire before four months from the hearing date noticed above.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a formal Request for Special Notice of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in section 1250 of the California Probate Code. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

Regional developers team up on Triangle property

West Sacramento's Frank Ramos has teamed with Stockton developer Alex Spanos and Sacramento's Buzz Oates to attempt to develop 55 acres of West Sacramento's "Triangle" area.

The Triangle, bordered by the Tower Bridge approach (Highway 275), the Pioneer freeway bridge and the Sacramento River, has been master planned by West Sacramento as a future urban downtown waterfront to rival other American waterfronts such as the one in Portland, Oregon.

Uses such as office, retail, restaurants and apartments are envisioned for the Triangle Area, and Dan Ramos of the family Ramco Enterprises business was quoted in the Sacramento Business Journal as saying that the precise uses planned for the partnership's 55 acres would be determined partly by market forces.

Like neighboring properties in the Triangle (including one planned for a possible minor league baseball stadium), the Ramos/Oates/Spanos property occupies what is currently aging industry. A transformation to other uses would include a need for improvements to roads and other infrastructure.

50 acres of the project are being purchased from the Norwegian firm Scanvik, and the remaining five will come from Union Pacific and another private owner. The 55-acre project sits several hundred yards south from the Money Store pyramid, and lies on part of what West Sacramento officials will become West Sacramento's crown jewel: a stretch of future thriving urban riverfront reaching north from the Capital City freeway and past the Tower Bridge.

City officials have expressed enthusiasm for the development team's plans.

Yeah, I would have picked six other numbers in the lottery, I'd be a millionaire. De La Hoya, who is looking for a big pay day down the road, will stop the great ex-champion on cuts in the middle rounds. Oscar wins on a TKO in the 6th round.

The Giants' wild card chase took a bad detour in Arizona, when the Diamondbacks beat them up 14-2 and dropped them 3 1/2 games behind the Cubs and Mets. At press time, the Giants have 11 games remaining. Shawn Estes returned to the Giants starting pitching staff and has been bombed. Estes lost all three of his starts since returning to the team, yielding 19 hits, 17 runs and 10 walks over 11 innings with an ERA of 14.81. Ouch.

The Giants' last hopes will be on rookie pitcher Steve Soderstrom (11-4) who was recalled from their farm team. The favorite to win the wild-card spot has to be the Cubs, who are being led to the promised land by Slammin' Sammy Sosa. Sosa got lost in the Mark McGwire celebrations last week and hit four HRs over the weekend to tie the Cardinals slugger with 62 home runs. Who's going to win the Home Run title, Slammin' Sammy or Big Mac?

Last week, the 49ers covered easily, but I lost the Miami game by 1/2 point and Detroit lost in OT. My two week totals are 3 wins, 2 losses! Here's my NFL picks for week three:

I think Kansas City (-10) will formally introduce Chargers rookie QB to the N.F.L.: Chiefs 31, Chargers 10.

The Tampa Bay Bucs (0-2) will be hungry for their first win of the season and the Bears (+8) will be the first visitors in their new stadium: Bucs 28, Bears 13. Monday night, take the N.Y. Giants (-3 1/2) at home against the beat up Cowboys. New York 24, Dallas 17.

See ya next week.

WASHINGTON NEWS ITEMS

The Sacramento River registered 11 feet 4 inches, U. S. gauge at the S. P. bridge yesterday. This gauge shows a raise in the river since last week of about one foot although since that date no rain has fallen in the Sacramento Valley. The reading indicates that the snow on the mountains and foothills is already melting and holding up the stage of the river which it will do for some time to come.

Mrs. F. De Riso, Sr., has been confined to her home for several days of the past week with a severe case of flu. Yesterday she was reported to be much improved and expected to be soon entirely recovered.

Barbara, the little daughter of Frank De Riso, Jr., has been sick for several days with influenza. Yesterday she was showing signs of improvement which were welcomed by her parents.

Harry Steuben has been down with influenza for several days at his home in Riverbank and in addition has been suffering with a broken finger. Some time ago his finger was accidentally broken while at work but it did not set properly and it became necessary to break it again. He is now progressing rapidly to entire recovery.

Several of the boys around Washington have been testing out their ability to land a few salmon, but so far with only very little success. Hook and line fishing for bass above the mouth of the American River has been good during the past week and several sportsmen have landed half a dozen fish in a few hours.

James H. Floyd, one of the late arrivals in Westgate, and who is conducting the only restaurant at that place at the present time, is expecting a carload of building material today or tomorrow. When this arrives he will start the construction of a store, dwelling and restaurant close to the service station which Frank Janak has been operating during the past year. Floyd has moved his family to the West Sacramento district and is making expenses at least for the time being.

Joe Burke is the latest addition in the way of a helper at the West Side Auto Camp. Joe was discharged honorably from the navy a few weeks ago and hearing that he could get a job in this section of the state he came here promptly and landed just as promptly. He has charge of the lunch room, and soft drink place and sometimes the oil station for NcNally & Partridge.

The West Sacramento Auto Camp is crowding, according to word received yesterday from Joe Pereira. Traffic on the highway through Washington has greatly increased and every night finds a camp at the West Sacramento Auto Camp hard to get. The other camp grounds west of Washington on the state highway are also crowded by newcomers, especially from the southern part of the state.

ANOTHER INDUSTRIAL SITE PURCHASED IN WESTGATE

E. Schaffnit, a dealer in wood, coal, feed, fuel and other commodities in Sacramento, is the latest purchaser of an industrial site in Westgate.

Yesterday he purchased two acres on the county road between the M street bridge and West Sacramento headquarters for a greatly advanced price, advanced over that which he could have secured the land for a few months ago.

The ground is located just north of the Dr. Boyd place along the county highway. It is just south of the pear orchard formerly known as the Reed orchard.

Mr. Schaffnit told the Independent yesterday on closing the deal that he would first use this place for warehouses. He will have a siding built to connect with the Oakland-Antioch or short line railroad, and it is possible that he may build a few homes on that portion of the land fronting on the county road.

Dealing in hay, grain, feed and other farm commodities, this warehouse will be very convenient because Schaffnit does most of his buying of those commodities in West Sacramento.

GENERAL PETROLEUM COMPANY IS MAKING RAPID ADVANCE

Under the direction of W. A. Dudley rapid strides are being made in placing the plant of the corporation in readiness for the transaction of business in West Sacramento.

Mr. Dudley also has the co-operation and help of his brother, who is his assistant at this time, with Ira C. Ross as engineer in charge.

Last Wednesday two large steel tanks with a capacity of 560 barrels each arrived on the ground. They were immediately unloaded and placed in position to receive gasoline that will be shipped in a day or two from Oakland.

These tanks were placed on concrete foundations of two feet in thickness and are anchored to the bases so that there is no possibility of them toppling over. They are 35 feet in height and 10 feet in diameter. They are connected at the top with a runway of steel.

Yesterday a cyclone steel fence was being placed around the property by the corporation. This wire fence is 7 feet in height, of very heavy construction, and is attached to steel posts that are imbedded in concrete bases.

An unloading platform has been built on the line of the Oakland-Antioch side track right at the plant. From this unloading platform a runway has been built into the large warehouse that was formerly used as the factory for the United States Fiber Products Co.

Two more large tanks like the above are on the way which will be used as storage for distillate and later on there will be two others that will be used for the storage of crude oil.

Pumps have already been installed to pump the gasoline and oil from the cars into the tanks or into the warehouse. The pumps are of peculiar construction and will be operated with electric power. These pumps, also houses, are so thoroughly ventilated that any amount of friction will not cause a spark that might set fire to the gasoline.

In the construction of the plant every precaution has been taken to avoid anything that might cause danger from fire.

Mr. Dudley has been very particular in this regard on account of the fact that fire protection in his neighborhood is nil and that, therefore, prevention must be of the best.

Mr. Dudley is still of the impression that he will be able to start distribution from the plant about the second week in April.

JUDGE DAVIS B. BARRY HELD COURT FOR FIRST TIME

Last Monday, March 23d, Judge Davis B. Barry held court in Washington for the first time. He was installed in office by his father, who retired on March 17th.

With a good deal of composure the new judge ascended the bench and assumed control of the court. He took the honors modestly but, nevertheless, showed a determination which is seldom seen in young men of his age.

Attorneys, plaintiffs and defendants recognized that they were dealing with no novice and that they must live up to the rules of the court without infringement.

The case before the court last Monday was that of the Globe Grain and Milling Company vs. Contente, on suit for collection of a bill for seed sold to Contente.

Judge Barry rendered a decision in favor of the plaintiff in the amount of $71.20.

On Tuesday a case of battery was before the court on complaint of Alex Alauer of Riverbank against Joe Silva, an employe of the Lake Washington Dairy. From the testimony brought out in court before Judge Barry it appeared that Silva and Alauer got into an argument about the time they should get to work. The argument developed into cross words and Silva assaulted Alauer, knocking him off a milking stool.

Judge Barry found the assailant guilty and fined him $5, which was paid immediately.

MRS. MANCHESTER ELECTED SCHOOL TRUSTEE

A small vote was cast this afternoon in the election for school trustee of the Washington school district.

Mrs. M. L. Manchester was the only candidate to qualify in the election. She had no opposition and returns to the board to fill out a term of three years, making a total of fifteen years in all.

The officers of election were: Norman White, inspector; Mrs. Ina Dassonville and D. Barry, judges.

Washington Boosters' Club Will Have "Clean-Up and Paint-Up" Campaign During Month of May

Last year the "Clean-Up and Paint-Up" campaign in Washington was an extraordinary success, so extraordinary that it took two teams three days to haul away the garbage, the refuse, the surplus home material that had been placed at the curbs by the householders of the town.

On June 2d of last year the clean-up campaign had its big day.

At its meeting last Tuesday night the club decided that the clean-up and paint-up day would be held earlier this year, some day about the middle of May, the date not yet being specified.

A copy of the ordinance introduced by Sheriff Monroe into the board of supervisors, having for its purpose the prevention of entrance of American men and boys into Chinese gambling houses, was read. The club decided to recommend its passage by the board of supervisors.

The ordinance would make it a misdemeanor for any men or boys to be found in those places and assesses a fine of $50 and not more than $500. The secretary of the club was instructed to advise the board of supervisors of this action.

Joe Pereira appealed to the club in behalf of Constable Wilson. He claimed that the salary now being paid the constable was entirely inadequate to recompense him for the services he was performing. His entire time is taken up in an effort at law enforcement and yet he receives only $70 to support him and his family.

It was duly moved and carried that a recommendation be made to the grand jury that the salary of the constable be raised to $150 per month with the understanding that the entire time of that official must be devoted to the work imposed upon him by his office.

Following the passage of this motion, Mr. Pereira was appointed a committee of one to appear before the grand jury on Wednesday, March 25th, asking this favor for the people of Washington.

The secretary of the Boosters' Club was also instructed to communicate with the county clerk to ask for a compiled book of ordinances now in force and effect in Yolo County and if those ordinances have not been compiled to secure copies of each individual ordinance.

The secretary, Mrs. Palm, advised that she would communicate immediately with County Clerk Saunders.

After considerable discussion on the moral, immoral and improvident condition of the people who make their habitat along the river slope of the levee, it was decided that a committee of five ladies be appointed to appear before the grand jury the following day, Wednesday, March 25th, to ask for relief in the way of cleaning up those conditions.

The committee appointed to perform this duty consisted of Mrs. Cameron, Mrs. Painter, Mrs. Pereira, Mrs. McNevin and Mrs. Esycheck.

These ladies promised to be present at the meeting of the grand jury in Woodland last Wednesday.

LATER

Last night Mrs. Cameron advised the Independent that the committee appeared before the grand jury and was given a full hearing, a courteous hearing and an attentive hearing. She felt greatly encouraged by the attitude of the grand jury in looking into the affairs above specified.

Joe Pereira also advised the Independent last night that he, too, had received a very courteous hearing from the grand jury. A promise had been made that if it was possible under the county government act to raise the salary of Constable Wilson to $150 a month, it would be done.

RICHFIELD OIL COMPANY TO START BUILDING HERE SOON

Leonard Freer, assistant district manager for the Richfield Oil Company, has established headquarters in the California State Life Building in Sacramento.

Interviewed by the Independent last Wednesday, he advised the writer that it is the intention of the corporation to utilize the ten acres lately purchased in West Sacramento on which to build a plant. Construction of this plant will start in the near future but Mr. Freer was not in a position to advise the exact date nor was he in position to advise what kind of buildings would be erected for the plant.

The ground purchased by the Richfield Oil Company is that fronting on the river and formerly occupied by the United Box and Barrel Co. It is situated just back of the old Kripp home and has rail and water connections.

"They lend beauty to their surroundings with their blue-green foliage. They can be used as individual ornamentals, a windbreak or privacy screen, or as living Christmas trees."
